Henley Royal Regatta 2012

A defining symbol of English life, Henley Royal Regatta is a must in the summer social calendar. The first Henley Royal Regatta took place in 1839 and today's Regatta is a truly unique sporting event with almost 300 races spread across five days.

Situated just a short walk from the finish line and Stewards' Enclosure, Leander Club offers you and your guests the opportunity to enjoy the grandeur of this event in style from the world's most historic and successful rowing club.

Over the years, Leander athletes have won 99 Olympic medals, with 13 of those in Beijing in 2008, and are on course to represent around half of the Great Britain team in 2012.

As well as our exclusive hospitality packages, you can enhance your day by offering your guests an introduction to the Regatta by our resident Olympic commentator. You may also like to consider a relaxing trip down the Regatta course on one of our exclusive boats, to experience the thrill of the racing crews at close quarters.

Each day of the Regatta has its own character:

Wednesday: Everything is fresh and exciting on the first day of Regatta, as befits the world's most famous rowing event. Wednesday is one of the busiest days on the water, with at least two races on the course at any time.

Thursday: The club, student and school crews who survived the first day's racing face their second round encounter and yet another frenetic day on the water.

Friday: Now the busiest day of Regatta, often drawing the largest crowds of the week, all eager to enjoy the social activity and witness the international crews who usually make their debut today.

Saturday: Semi-finals day always produces excellent racing and, coupled with the first day of the weekend, generates large crowds on the river bank.

Sunday: Finals day at Regatta has a character all of its own, combining the tension of the finals with a more relaxed feel on the bank - a fitting climax to five days at Henley.
